

Interview with Victoria Forrester.

By Kaitlyn Yates.

Why did you want to be a parent governor?

Well my daughter attends Hovingham School and I wanted to get involved with what they were doing during school time.

Who inspired you when you were younger?

My father inspired me. He taught me to try my hardest at everything I did.

What were you like when you as a child?

I was quiet at school. I went to a primary school near Scarborough, and then I went to a secondary school in Scarborough. I found the move from primary to secondary a bit difficult.

Did you have pets when you were younger?

I had a couple of rabbits when I was at primary school. When I was a bit older we had a dog.
